- PROFESSIONAL FLY FISHING GUIDES

The Golden Dorado - or "River Tiger" as affectionately called in Argentina, due to its impressive fighting spirit and jumping characteristics - has rocketed to the top of many fly fishing enthusiasts' hot fish list.

Located in the heart of a nature preserve twice the size of the Florida Everglades, the area is a fly fisherman's paradise. Adventure-driven anglers will find front-door access to a vibrant ecosystem featuring crystal clear creeks, flowing rivers, flats-type habitats, and lakes. Welcome to the kingdom of the hard-charging, high-jumping freshwater dorado!

TRIP HIGHLIGHTS

- Uniquely positioned and supremely comfortable lodge with direct access to the Esteros del Iberá - nearly three million acres of largely unexplored marshland, including creeks, rivers, lagoons and freshwater flats, all teeming with fish.
- Friendly, bilingual guides with knowledge about the Dorado, and years of experience boating in the vast Iberá. They'll make your days on the water unique and productive.
- The only featured freshwater Dorado destination in South America with state of the art Hell's Bay flats skiffs, to deliver anglers quickly and safely to the most remote areas of the fishery.
- Spectacular abundance of flora and fauna make for a naturalist and fisherman's dream destination - over 350 bird species are seen regularly.
- Unique non angling activities in a tropical paradise include horseback riding, a sparkling swimming pool and bird watching, which combine to make a vacation within a vacation.
