Few fly fishing experiences can top going after the legendary "Grey Ghost" in the salt flats of the Bahamas.

Bair's Lodge on Andros Island has long been synonymous with the largest bonefish in the Caribbean. What makes fly fishing at South Andros so prolific can be summed up in two words: quality habitat. Great bonefish live here!

In addition, Bair's Lodge guests will encounter the occasional permit or tarpon. So be ready. Offshore and reef species such as wahoo, tuna, dorado, (seasonal billfish), snapper, barracuda, and grouper also provide good sport and trips can be arranged via your lodge hosts.
